- iii. Christians observe the Sabbath in obedience to God. They set aside daily chores and spend time worshipping God.
- iv. Christians should create leisure time daily to pray and thank God for His goodness, love and mercy, and seek forgiveness so as to better their relationship with God.
- v. Christian teachings recommend the limitation of leisure to morally upright activities that please God, which enhance God-given talents such as swimming, singing, drama, etc, which relax the mind and are fulfilling. (1Cor. 10:31; Phil. 4:8)
- vi. Christians should condemn the use of alcohol and other drugs which lead to addiction and other dangers.
- vii. Christians should also choose leisure activities that enrich their knowledge of God such as gospel music, reading religious literature, holding religious discussions, which also help them to avoid sin.
- viii. Leisure time for a Christian should provide an opportunity to make discoveries and improve oneself, e.g. reading good books and watching good movies.
- ix. Christians should also choose activities that provide service to others, just like Jesus, e.g. visiting the sick, preaching the gospel, doing charity work.

- x. Christians should avoid activities that are condemned in the Bible, e.g. gambling, sexual immorality, stealing etc, which are sinful.
- xi. Christians should avoid leisure activities that may be harmful to others even if they are beneficial to them e.g. playing loud music.
- xii. Christians should not engage in leisure activities that are risky to one's life e.g. boxing, wrestling, sky diving, bull fighting etc.
