It was time for bed after a tiresome day. The flames were lighted in the bedroom. Lewis sat by the fire "Tell us a story, grandma." Lewis said. His sister Hellen joined. "A giant story," she added. With three eyes!" cried Peter.

So grandma told them a story. The story had a huge giant and a little girl in it. But it began with Nazi, the little girl, who had gone to fetch firewood alone in forest. Nazi was very brave and never needed company of other girls.

When she could not get firewood, she decided to get deeper into the forest. She found a good spot with plenty of firewood. She was busy collecting firewood when a huge strong man had caught her shoulder. On looking up, it was a very tall giant with three eyes. Nazi was shocked so much that she could not scream. The giant carried her like a feather to his hut in the middle of the forest.

Back at home, Nazi was missing. Many warriors were sent to look for her. After a serious search through the forest, they found the hut and rescued Nazi killing the giant with their poisoned arrows.

Read the passage below and answer questions 41 - 50

Forests are very important to us. Thus, we should not destroy them. However, man has been destroying forest for getting firewood, getting farming land and building houses. For many days, people have been told the dangers of destroying the forest. This is because the benefits to us are many and varied.

For instance, forest are the sources of rivers. Many rivers that give us water begin at the forest areas. If we destroy the forests then our rivers will not have water. Also forest are a home of many wild animals such as the lion, elephant, cheetah, giraffe, leopards and others. These animals are useful to us because they attract tourists who give our country money.

Thus if we destroy forests, wild animals will not have place to live. Forests also provide us with timber or wood for building. The trees in the forests give man building materials when cared for. Therefore, everyone should plant more trees and avoid cutting them because they are very useful to us.
