Paper 101/3 is intended to test the candidates ability to communicate in English. Communication is established at different levels of intelligibility, fluency, pleasantness and originality. Within the constrains set by each question. It is the linguistic competence shown by the candidate that should carry most of the marks.

Examiners should not hesitate to use the full range of marks for each essay. It is the final total marks that counts.

It is important to determine first how the essay communicates and in which category ABC OR D it fits. Use the marks below to classify each essay:

- D class - The candidate either does not communicate at all 01-05 or his language ability is so minimal that the examiners practically has to guess what the candidate wants to say. The candidate fails to fit the English words he knows into meaningful sentences. The subject is glanced at or distorted. Practically no valid punctuation. All kinds of errors. ‘Broken English.’
- D – 01-02 Chaotic. Little meaning whatsoever. Question or some words from it simply copies.
- D 03 Flow of thought almost impossible to follow. The errors are continuous.
- D+ 04-05 Although the English is often broken and the essay if full of errors of all Types we can at least guess what the candidate wants to say.
- C class The candidate communicates understandably only or less clearly. The candidate is not confident with the language. The subject is often undeveloped. There may be some digressions. Unnecessary repetitions are frequent. The arrangement is weak and the flow jerky there is no economy language. Mother tongue influence is felt.
- C- 06-07 The candidate obviously finds it difficult to communicate his ideas. He is Seriously hampered by his very limited knowledge of structure and vocabulary. The results are many gross errors of agreement, spelling, misuse of prepositions, tenses, verb agreement and sentence constriction.
- C 08 The candidate communicates but not with consistent clarity. His linguistic ability being very limited, the candidate cannot avoid frequent errors in sentence structure. There is little variety or originality very bookish English. Links are weak, incorrect, repeated at times.
- C+ 09 The candidate communicates clearly but in a flat and uncertain manner. Simple concepts sentence forms are often strained. There may be an overuse of clichés, unsuitable idioms. Proverbs are misquoted or misinterpreted. The flow is still jerky. There are some errors of agreement, tenses, spelling.
- B class This class is characterized by greater fluency and ease of expression. The candidate demonstrates that s/he can use English as a normal way of expressing himself/herself. Sentences are even saying and usually well constructed. Some candidates become ambitious and even over-ambitious. There may be items of merit of the one word or one expression type. Many essays in this category may be just clean and unassuming, but they still show that the candidate is at ease with language. There may be a tendency to under mark such essays. Give credit tone.

- B-(11-12) The candidate communicates fairly and with some fluency. There may be a little variety in sentence structure. Gross errors are still found occasionally, but this must not be over – punished by the examines.
- B 13 The sentences are varied but rather simple, straightforward. The candidate does not strain in an effort to impress. There is a fair range of vocabulary and idiom. Natural and effortless. Some items of merit, Economy of language.
- B+(14-15) The candidate communicates pleasantly and without strain. There are errors and slips. Tenses spelling and punctuation are quite good. A number of items of merit of the whole sentence or the whole expression type.
- A class The candidate communicates not only fluently but attractively with originality and efficiency. He has the ability to make us share the deep Feelings, emotions, enthusiasms. He expresses himself freely and without any visible constraint. The script gives evidence of maturity good planning and often humour. Many items of merit which indicate that the candidate has complete command of the language. There is no strain just pleasantness, clever arrangement felicity of expression.
- A- (16-17) The candidate shows fluency and competence in using the language. He may lack imagination or originality which usually provide ‘spark’ in such essays. Vocabulary, idiom, sentence structure, links variety are impressive. Gross errors are very rare.
- A 18 Positive ability. A few errors that are felt to be slips. The story or argument has a definite impact. No grammar problem. Variety of structures, a definite spark.
- A+ (19-20) The candidate communicates not only information or meaning, but also and especially the candidate’s whole self, the feelings, tastes, points of view youth culture. This ability to communicate his deep self may express itself in many ways: wide range of effective vocabulary, original approach, vivid and sustained account in the case of a narrative, well developed and ordered argument in a debate or dispassion. Errors and slips should not deprive the candidate of the full marks s/he deserves.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

STEP 1

Read the composition through and award an impression grade on the basis of inter alia, the following:

(i) Communicative Ability

The candidate should communicate clearly despite some errors of vocabulary, idiom and sentence construction. Ideally the vocabulary should be appropriate and effective while idiomatic expressions should be vivid and relevant. Sentence construction should be varied in terms of length, form and function.

(ii) Linguistic ability

The very able candidate should strike you as outstanding because of:

- a. excellent use of language
- b. ability to organize and develop his or her work.

STEP II

Read the composition a second time and underline all the errors or take any other appropriate measure. this is important because it justifies the awarded in step I above.

ERRORS AND MARKING SYMBOLS

TYPES OF ERRORS

Major errors are tense and verb formations/spelling/agreement/syntax/omission. These errors interfere with the flow of communication

Minor errors may occur where a student 'misuses' vocabulary or a structure but this does not particularly affect communication. Such errors may be said to be the result of experimentation and/or carelessness.

Blatant irrelevancy occurs when a student veers from the point of the composition or introduces irrelevant material.

Stylistic weaknesses are typified by, for example: the overuse of simple sentences, the repetition of vocabulary indicating a limited range or the use of slang in an effort to impress the examiner with his or her knowledge of current use!

Contradiction of instructions (rubric) occurs when a student either does not write enough or writes too much as a result of failing to understand or read the instruction carefully.

Minor irrelevancy occurs when a student veers from the subject although the main point of the composition is still maintained

ACTION

If a candidate: (i) does not answer the compulsory question, award 00 regardless of whether he/she has answered two other questions from the subsequent section or not (ii) answers question 1 and 2 from the subsequent section, mark all and record marks for question 1 and the best mark for the subsequent question (iii) writes an essay that borders on cheating e.g. memorized a passage, treat as case of cheating and award 00 (iv) sets his own question and answers it. This is a deliberate attempt to evade questions set for him/her award 00.

IRRELEVANCY

- (i) Consistent distortion of question, evasion of question, writing on a totally different subject with a clumsy attempt at connecting the essay with the subject given, inclusion of memorized passages e.t.c.
- (ii) The question is given an unacceptable or questionable interpretation
- (iii) Essay does not address the subject given or contains long semi-relevant digressions or lacks coherence

ACTION

Judge the irrelevancy as either resulting from:

- (i) candidate’s poor understanding of the subject
- (ii) A deliberate attempt to deceive

The examiner marks the essay, gives a linguistic mark and comments on the nature of the irrelevancy, then deduct up to 4mks. However, if the essay is totally irrelevant then award 00.

BREVITY

Candidate may not write the required length of composition

- (i) If essay is less than 200 words and more than 175 words deduct 1mk (AD)
- (ii) If essay is less than 175 words, then deduct 2mks(AD)
- (iii) With question 1, if essay is less than 150 words then deduct 1mk (AD), but if 150 words or more no deduction is made.
